

EPISODE GUIDE

LEARNING GOALS

- Describe problems Black individuals experience in the emergency healthcare system.
- Explain the three essential things needed to empower the community.
- Identify three issues Black women face with pregnancy and delivery.
- Name the two essential elements of community partnerships.
- Describe three essential ways that philanthropy can work differently.
- Name two barriers to philanthropic funding for community work.

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

1. How did the speakers define Critical Futures?
2. What does Critical Futures as it relates to structural racism in health care mean to you?
3. One of the speakers (Faybra) mentioned that Black individuals have problems with the emergency healthcare system, what are the problems?
4. What are two issues you see with this system?
5. The speakers discussed major issues that need to be addressed right now, what are some of the issues that you believe are some major issues in structural racism in the healthcare system?
6. What are three issues the speakers say Black women face with pregnancy and delivery?
7. What are some ways the healthcare system can begin to address these problems?
8. What are three ways the speakers said they empowered the community to develop priorities in their work?
9. The speakers mentioned "A Cultural of Trying," what does that mean?
10. What is included in a community participatory process?
11. What are three essential elements to building authentic relationships with a community?
12. Why does community empowerment include listening?
13. How are the speakers partnering with philanthropy to work differently?
14. What are two barriers community groups face when trying to get funding from philanthropic groups?

CRITICAL FUTURES SEASON 1, EPISODE 1

“REIMAGINING COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIPS”

FAYBRA JABULANI

Forward Through Ferguson

Lead Racial Equity Capacity Catalyst

MICHELLE BARBEAU

Forward Through Ferguson

Community Governance Board